Policies and objectives

The Association of Clinical Scientists ('ACS') is an organisation representing the clinical science profession in the UK. Individuals can apply to the ACS for assessment for the Certificate of Attainment, which allows successful candidates to register with the Health and Care Professions Council. Its Board consists of representatives nominated by the clinical science professions who set down the standards required for the achievement of the Certificate of Attainment and thus for registration. ACS is therefore responsible for maintaining and monitoring the standards for each of the member professions. ACS is intended purely to assess applicants against set standards of performance and breadth of competencies.

Achievements and performance

Review of activities

There are 11 (2021: 11) member organisations representing 13 (2021: 13) clinical science professions that pay an annual subscription to ACS to subsidise fees for applicants from their membership.

During the year, 68 (2021: 69) applications were received and 84 (2021: 70) assessments were carried out resulting in 69 (2021: 51) successes in obtaining the Certificate of Attainment, with 13 (2021: 9) failing, a further 2 (2021: 8) rejected as unacceptable portfolios and 0 (2021: 2) candidates had withdrawn their application prior to completion of assessment. Since its inception in 2002, ACS has received 3,666 applications with 3,073 successes, 319 failing at interview, 216 rejected for inadequate portfolio, 10 rejected for non-compliance of initial application requirements and 21 individuals withdrawing application prior to completion of assessment (the remainder are still in progress).

Investment policy and performance

Any surplus funds are held in short-term deposits to help generate the income levels for future years.

Financial review

Results for the year

The attached financial statements show the current state of the Charity, which the Trustees consider to be sound. The net income for the year was £3,397 (2021: £9,261).

Principal risks and uncertainties

The trustees have reviewed all major risks to which the charity is exposed to and have established systems to mitigate them.

Reserves policy

The trustees consider the ideal level of reserves to be sufficient to cover six months of its annual expenditure. At the year end, reserves (all unrestricted) stood at £37,444 (2021: £34,047). Based on 2022 expenditure, this would cover operational expenditure for up to six months and thus is considered to be sufficient. The trustees intend to keep the reserves policy under review. There is also increasing use of video facilities for meetings which reduces costs.

Going concern

After making appropriate enquiries, the Trustees have a reasonable expectation that the Charity has adequate resources to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future. For this reason, they continue to adopt the going concern basis in preparing the financial statements. Further details regarding the adoption of the going concern basis can be found in the accounting policies.

Public benefit

The trustees have given due consideration to Charity Commission published guidance on the public benefit requirements. The Charity constitutes a public benefit entity as defined by FRS 102.

Future developments

There are no plans to change the strategies employed to carry out the objective of the Charity. We are receiving applications electronically and conducting many assessments via video conferencing going forward.

Trustees' responsibilities statement

The charity's trustees (who are also the directors of the Association of Clinical Scientists for the purposes of Company Law) are responsible for the preparing the Trustees' Report (incorporating the Directors' Report) and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accountancy Standards, including Financial Reporting Standard 102: The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice), and Financial Reporting Standard 102: SORP (Statement of Recommended Practice for Accounting and Reporting by Charities) 2015, (as amended by the Bulletin issued in February 2016), (The SORP).

Company law requires the trustees to prepare financial statements for each fiscal year which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charity and of the income and the expenditure, of the charity for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the Trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP;
- make judgments and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable UK Accounting Standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charitable company will continue in operation.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that are sufficient to show and explain the charitable company's transactions and disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charitable company and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charitable company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Disclosure of information to the independent examiner

Each of the persons who are trustees at the time when this Trustees' report is approved has confirmed that;

- so far as that trustee are aware, there is no relevant information of which the charity's independent examiner is unaware, and
- that trustees have taken all the steps that ought to have been taken as trustees in order to be aware of any information needed by the Trust's independent examiner in connection with preparing their report and to establish that the Trust's independent examiner is aware of that information.

Small company exemptions

In preparing this report, the trustees have taken advantage of the small company exemptions provided by section 415A of the Companies Act 2006.

This report was approved by the Trustees on 27 September 2023 and signed on their behalf.

Report of the Independent Examiner

Report of the Independent Examiner to the Trustees of The Association of Clinical Scientists ('the Charity')

I report to the trustees on my examination of the financial statements of the Charity for the year ended 31 December 2022.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The trustees (and its directors for the purposes of company law) are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2002 ('the 2006 Act'). The trustees consider that an audit is not required for the year under section 144(2) of the Charities Act 2011 (the 2011 Act) and that an independent examination is needed. The charity is required to prepare accrued accounts and I am qualified to undertake the examination by being a qualified member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of England & Wales.

Having satisfied myself that the charity is not subject to audit under charity law and is eligible for independent examination, it is my responsibility to:

- Examine the accounts under section 145 of the 2011 Act.
- To follow procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the 2011 Act, and
- To state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent examiner's report

My examination was carried out in accordance with the general directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosure in the financial statements and seeking explanations from you as trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view' and the report is limited to those matters set out in the next statement.

Independent examiner's statement

I have completed my examination. I confirm that no matters have come to my attention in connection with the examination giving me cause to believe that in any material respect:

- 1) accounting records were not kept in respect of the Charity as required by section 386 of the 2006 Act: or
- 2) the accounts do not accord with those records; or
- 3) the accounts do not comply with the accounting requirements of section 396 of the 2006 Act other than any requirement that the financial statements give a 'true and fair view' which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination; or
- 4) the financial statements have not been prepared in accordance with the methods and principles of Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and the Republic of Ireland (FRS 102).

I have no concerns and have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the financial statements to be reached.
