LETTER FROM THE CHAIR

In the Name of Allah, the Most Beneficent, the Most Merciful
Assalamu Alaikum wa Rahmatullahi wa Barakatuh,
As we reflect on the work of 2025, I am filled with both gratitude and determination. This year has been one of deep challenge, but also of meaningful action, solidarity, and growth in our mission to serve communities in need and to raise our voices against injustice.

Throughout the year, our organisation remained committed to both humanitarian aid and advocacy. In the face of ongoing hardship across the region, we continued our support for Gaza, standing with families affected by crisis and responding in the ways we could through sustained aid efforts and community solidarity. This work has been more than a response to immediate need - it has been a reflection of our enduring responsibility to act with compassion and principle.

Our commitment to advocacy was also visible through our Stolen Lands event, which created space for awareness, dialogue, and collective reflection on justice, displacement, and the rights of oppressed peoples. Events such as this are essential to our mission, not only because they educate, but because they strengthen our community's voice and reinforce the importance of standing firmly for truth and dignity.

At the same time, we were proud to take hopeful steps toward long-term impact through our new school project in Babuline, Syria. Education remains one of the most powerful investments in the future of any community, and this project represents more than the construction of a school - it represents opportunity, stability, and hope for children and families who deserve the chance to thrive.

These achievements were only possible because of the generosity, commitment, and trust of our supporters, volunteers, partners, and wider community. Every contribution, whether through time, resources, or advocacy, has played an important role in helping us continue this work.

As Chair, I want to extend my sincere thanks to everyone who has stood with us during this year. While much remains to be done, 2025 has shown us the strength of collective action and the importance of remaining steadfast in our values. We move forward with renewed purpose, committed to expanding our impact and continuing to serve with integrity, compassion, and courage.

FOOD & NUTRITION

FOOD PACKS

War-driven food insecurity remains at crisis levels across our countries of operation, with acute hunger affecting tens of millions in active war zones and displacement camps. In Syria, only 18% of the population is food secure, while over 7.2 million people face acute food insecurity following years of civil war, and economic collapse.

Afghanistan projects 13.8 million people, close to one-third of its population, in acute food insecurity, frozen foreign assets, and environmental shocks. In Palestine, particularly Gaza, famine conditions were confirmed in 2025, with over 75% of the population facing extreme acute food insecurity and critical malnutrition risks amid blockade and bombardment.

In all cases, displacement strips not only livelihoods but the political recognition required to secure basic nutritional rights.

IN SYRIA WE DELIVERED 500 FOOD PACKS

IN AFGHANISTAN WE DELIVERED 146 FOOD PACKS

IN YEMEN WE DELIVERED 50 FOOD PACKS

HOT MEALS

In regions where Muslim communities endure systemic violence, military siege, and deliberate economic strangulation, access to a single reliable hot meal each day becomes the thin barrier between survival and starvation. Years of blockades sever supply chains, destroy agriculture, and collapse wages, while displacement and persecution strip families of their homes, livelihoods, and dignity. A warm plate of food delivers far more than calories: it restores a sense of normalcy for children who have known only conflict, eases the bodily stress of malnutrition and cold, and offers a fleeting moment of care in lives otherwise defined by isolation. For mothers, the elderly, and the injured—those least able to compete for scarce resources—hot meal programmes are often the only safeguard against deepening famine and the slow erosion of an entire community's health.

BABY MILK

Yemen's most populous urban centres have suffered through extended blockades and armed conflict. These pressures have deepened destitution, heightened food vulnerability, and pushed local hospitals and clinics beyond capacity. Rates of undernutrition in the youngest age groups have reached critical levels.

Babies face the greatest danger: supply gaps and the extreme strain on mothers have disrupted nursing, forcing greater dependence on expensive infant formula. For numerous households, this expense is out of reach, leaving their youngest members exposed to acute nutritional failure.

The Newborn Nutrition Initiative confronts this crisis by supplying premium formula and targeted micronutrient support to at-risk mothers and their babies.

WASH

In 2025, over 180 million people required humanitarian WASH assistance, yet fewer than 50 million received any form of water, sanitation, or hygiene support, according to the Global WASH Cluster.

Every day, hundreds of children under five still die from preventable waterborne diseases because their homes, health centres, and schools lack even the most basic WASH services. Millions more miss out on vital nutrition and schooling, kept at home by illness caused by unsafe drinking water.

Access to water and sanitation remains a fundamental human right, essential to the health, dignity, and prospects of the communities we serve.

YEMEN

4 WATER WELLS

In Yemen, millions of people urgently need WASH support. Water scarcity is severe; years of overuse have depleted groundwater, forcing families to walk kilometres for water when local sources fail.

This year, we installed a solar-powered well in rural Yemen, giving communities reliable, clean water.

ROHINGYA

8 WATER WELLS

Over one million Rohingya refugees remain crowded in Bangladesh's Cox's Bazar camps, where access to safe water is a daily struggle. Overcrowding, monsoon flooding, and deteriorating infrastructure strain existing supplies, leaving families vulnerable to waterborne illness and forcing long queues at distant collection points.

This year, we constructed eight water wells across the camps, bringing clean, reliable water closer to thousands of refugees. These installations ease the burden on overstretched resources, reduce health risks, and restore a measure of dignity to families who have already lost so much.

HEALTHCARE

AFGHANISTAN

Serving more than 8,000 patients monthly, Jannat Gul Khan Hospital is a cornerstone of public healthcare in Kabul, delivering surgical procedures, medication, and specialist neonatal services. Afghanistan's medical system has buckled under years of unrest, financial turmoil, and shrinking aid, leaving millions reliant on stretched public institutions as their only path to treatment. With private care priced out of reach for most households, facilities like Jannat Gul Khan have become vital for expectant mothers, newborns, and those facing medical emergencies.

Persistent gaps in medicine, electricity, and equipment had severely compromised the hospital's operations. Human Aid & Advocacy responded by supplying critical medical resources, recruiting three specialist doctors across general medicine, maternal health, and surgery, and installing solar panels to secure a stable power supply. These improvements have reinvigorated the hospital's capacity to provide dependable, high-quality care, giving thousands of patients access to treatment they could not otherwise receive.

EDUCATION & SPONSORSHIP

PAGHMAN GIRLS SCHOOL

Across Afghanistan, 3.7 million children are out of school, 60% of them girls. In Paghman, on the outskirts of Kabul, a small school has defied these odds for over a decade, educating 160 girls including many orphans. But conditions are dire: only two sheltered classrooms, three lessons held outdoors under trees, no electricity, and no running water. Teachers have gone unpaid for nearly a year, surviving on community support alone.

Human Aid & Advocacy is now building a new, fully equipped school for 300 students, set for completion next year, giving girls in Paghman safe access to quality education and the opportunity they deserve.

SYRIA SCHOOL

After 13 years of conflict, Syria's education system lies in ruins,over 7,000 schools damaged or destroyed, and 2 million children locked out of learning. In Idlib, displacement and poverty have left countless young people without safe spaces to study, threatening an entire generation's future.

The Babuline School Rebuild project will reconstruct 16 classrooms operating in morning and afternoon shifts, providing 960 primary school children with access to education. More than restoring a building, this initiative offers young Syrians a secure environment to learn, heal, and rebuild their futures, helping revive a community shattered by war.

ORPHAN SPONSORSHIP

Across the communities we serve, our teams witness firsthand the profound trauma carried by those who have survived conflict and persecution. For millions of children, war has stolen parents, siblings, and friends, leaving them to navigate life without the protection and guidance every child deserves.

In Afghanistan, Palestine, and Syria, the number of orphaned children continues to climb, with many facing urgent humanitarian needs. Our orphan sponsorship programmes wrap around these vulnerable young lives, providing shelter, nutritious meals, education, and opportunities for play and connection, offering stability and hope where both have been lost.

EMPOWERMENT PROJECTS

Afghanistan's economy remains in deep crisis, with roughly half the population trapped in poverty and countless households stuck in chronic unemployment or underemployment. With few viable job prospects, families cannot meet their most basic needs, and around 15 million people now face food insecurity.

In response, Human Aid & Advocacy has built sustainability-focused programmes that go beyond emergency relief. Through income-generation projects, we equip people with the means to earn a living, support their families, and rebuild their livelihoods.

But our philosophy is simple: aid should never become a lifelong dependency. We believe in handing people the tools to stand on their own, so they can move from relying on assistance to providing for themselves.

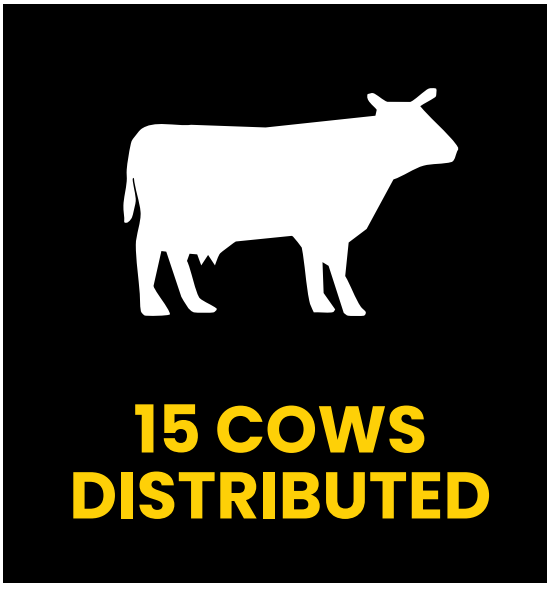

The aim is not to keep communities afloat on support, but to help them become self-reliant, resilient, and able to thrive long after our involvement ends.

COWS

In rural Afghanistan, farming is the lifeblood of communities—around 70% of the population lives in rural areas, and agriculture sustains roughly 80% of all livelihoods. Yet herds have been decimated by decades of instability, recurring drought, and disease. In Ghor province alone, extreme cold waves killed between 70,000 and 200,000 animals in a single winter, wiping out families' sole source of income in a matter of weeks.

With climate shocks growing more unpredictable, many farmers can no longer sustain their herds or feed their households. Human Aid & Advocacy works alongside local authorities to identify families hardest hit and breathe life back into the farming sector. Through our cow distribution project, vulnerable households receive a cow that becomes a renewable asset—providing milk, dairy, and breeding opportunities that build steady income and long-term security for the whole family.

ZARANGS

Across Afghanistan, informal transport keeps communities moving. With no modern public transit system in most cities, motorised rickshaws—known locally as zarangs—are a familiar sight in places like Jalalabad, Herat, Kandahar, and Kunduz, ferrying passengers and goods where formal infrastructure cannot reach.

For families without stable employment, owning one of these vehicles can mean the difference between hardship and self-sufficiency.

Human Aid & Advocacy provides family breadwinners with a fully fuelled zarang, handing them not just a vehicle but a livelihood. With it, they can earn a daily income, transport their neighbours, and provide for their households without relying on ongoing assistance. It is a small investment that puts the engine of independence directly in the hands of those who need it most.

VOCATIONAL SKILLS

Decades of conflict have left an estimated 2 to 2.5 million women widowed across Afghanistan, creating a vast number of female-headed households that bear the weight of providing for their families alone. With female unemployment standing at 25% in 2025 and a staggering 78% of young Afghan women excluded from education, employment, or training, the barriers to economic participation are immense. Many widows struggle to afford even basic necessities, let alone build a future for their children.

Human Aid & Advocacy's vocational skills programme is working to change that. Operating across districts nationwide, the programme trains women in tailoring and handicrafts, supplying each graduate with materials and her own sewing machine—the tools to launch a small business from home. This year alone, we sponsored 590 students and 6 vocational teachers, equipping women with marketable skills and the means to earn a sustainable income. It is not simply training; it is a pathway to independence, dignity, and self-reliance for women determined to rebuild their lives on their own terms.

CONTAINERS

Since 2014, Human Aid & Advocacy has run its UK-to-Syria container programme—loading, shipping, and delivering essential aid directly to families enduring the long fallout of conflict. This year, we organised and successfully delivered five containers packed with vital relief items, reaching survivors across Syria with the supplies they need most.

EMERGENCY RESPONSE

PALESTINE

Gaza has endured more than two years of devastating bombardment. According to the Gaza Ministry of Health, as of October 2025 over 67,000 Palestinians had been killed and 169,000 injured. Homes, hospitals, mosques, schools, and farmland have been systematically destroyed, leaving nearly the entire population of 2.2 million uprooted. In August 2025, the Integrated Food Security Classification formally declared famine in the Gaza governorate, the most severe hunger emergency on record, and although fragile improvements emerged late in the year, UN agencies warn the situation could reverse at any moment.

Through all of this, Human Aid & Advocacy's teams have remained on the ground in Gaza, witnessing first-hand the daily struggle for survival and the extraordinary steadfastness of the Palestinian people. Even amid rising adversity, our teams have delivered critical, life-saving assistance: food, medical aid, and essential supplies reaching families in the ways they need most. With your continued support, we stand alongside the people of Palestine, working to sustain lives until the day they can rebuild in freedom.

ZAKAH

Zakah stands as one of the five pillars of Islam, a sacred duty binding upon every eligible Muslim. Beyond a financial transaction, it is an act of purification: cleansing one's wealth and spirit while uplifting those who have the least. For communities ravaged by war, poverty, and displacement, Zakah represents a lifeline, restoring dignity and offering a path toward stability to those who need it most.

At Human Aid & Advocacy, we treat this trust with the utmost gravity. Every Zakah-eligible project we undertake is carried out in strict accordance with Islamic principles, guided by the Islamic Finance Advisory, a subsidiary of the Islamic Council, and independently overseen by the Islamic Scholars Board. From the moment your donation reaches us to the moment it reaches a beneficiary, it is handled with precision, transparency, and care, ensuring your Zakah is delivered swiftly and securely to those rightful to receive it.

This year we distributed Zakah to over 1000 people

RAMADAN

Each Ramadan, Muslims across the globe devote themselves to fasting, prayer, and charitable giving, drawing closer to their faith through discipline and compassion. Many fulfil their Zakah obligation and offer voluntary Sadaqah, channelling their generosity toward those who have the least.

Yet for families already enduring conflict and hardship, the holy month brings a particular strain. After a long day without food or water, the simple act of sharing a nourishing Iftar becomes a daily struggle when there is nothing to put on the table. A wholesome meal at sunset is not just a comfort, it is essential to the health and wellbeing of those who are already vulnerable.

This year, Human Aid & Advocacy continued its Ramadan Kitchen programme across Afghanistan, Syria, Yemen, and parts of Gaza, serving hot, freshly prepared Iftar meals throughout the blessed month so survivors could break their fasts with dignity. Alongside the kitchens, we distributed Ramadan food packs and Fidya and Kaffarah provisions, sourcing food locally to ensure it was both nutritious and culturally appropriate. Together, these efforts eased the burden of food insecurity for countless families and allowed them to observe Ramadan with the respect and sustenance they deserve.

1750 Ramadan food packs distributed across our countries of operations

Over 21,500 hot meals distrbuted across our countries of operation

EID

Twice a year, Muslims worldwide celebrate Eid. A time of joy and remembrance, Eid is one of the few respites our survivors look forward to. Your donations have helped some of the most disadvantaged communities to experience the joys of Eid, bringing smiles to the faces of our survivors.

QURBANI

For many of the families we serve, fresh meat is a rare luxury, something most can rarely afford or access. Qurbani offers one of the few moments in the year when they can enjoy a nourishing meal that would otherwise be out of reach.

Each year during the month of Dhul-Hijjah, Muslims around the world observe Eid al-Adha, honouring the completion of the Hajj pilgrimage by following the sunnah of sacrificing an animal and sharing its meat with the poor and vulnerable. It is an act of devotion, generosity, and solidarity with those who have the least.

THIS YEAR, HUMAN AID & ADVOCACY CARRIED OUT YOUR QURBANI ACROSS AFGHANISTAN, LEBANON, MALI, THE WEST BANK, GAZA, SOMALIA, YEMEN, AND AMONG ROHINGYA AND UYGHUR REFUGEES.

IN TOTAL, 4,597 HOUSEHOLDS

RECEIVED QURBANI MEAT BRINGING SUSTENANCE, DIGNITY, AND THE SPIRIT OF EID TO FAMILIES WHO NEEDED IT MOST.

WINTER

When winter settles over the regions we serve, it does not simply bring cold, it deepens every existing hardship. In many areas, temperatures plunge far below freezing, turning already fragile living conditions into matters of life and death. For the elderly, the young, and those without adequate shelter, the cold can be fatal.

This winter, Human Aid & Advocacy stepped in to ease that burden, distributing seasonal winter packs to the most vulnerable families, equipping them with the warmth and protection needed to endure the harshest months of the year.

550 WINTER PACKS DISTRIBUTED ACROSS OUR COUNTRIES OF OPERATION.

ADVOCACY

Throughout 2025, our advocacy work moved beyond awareness into tangible action, challenging silence, mobilising communities, and equipping people with the tools to make a real difference for Palestine and beyond.

IT WAS AN EVENING OF EDUCATION, SOLIDARITY, AND CONCRETE IMPACT, turning concern into measurable support for those on the front lines of dispossession.

STOLEN LANDS

A DEFINING MOMENT OF THE YEAR WAS THE STOLEN LANDS EVENT,

a powerful gathering dedicated to exposing the ongoing theft of Palestinian land. The event raised vital funds for Pal Commission, an organisation working to shut down illegal land sales and protect Palestinian heritage from being erased.

WE ALSO RELAUNCHED THE S4U CAMPAIGN

in coalition with partner organisations, building a united front to amplify the call for justice and accountability. Alongside this, our Awareness to Action workshops empowered individuals with the knowledge, confidence, and practical tools to advocate meaningfully for Palestine, transforming bystanders into active participants for change. To deepen public understanding, we launched a new advocacy section of our website, centralising resources, campaigns, and ways to take action.

We also produced a mini social media series on Syria,

BRINGING VIEWERS FACE TO FACE WITH THE DAILY REALITY ON THE GROUND,

humanising a crisis the world has too often looked away from, and reminding us all that advocacy must extend to every community the world has forgotten.

TRUSTEES FINANCIAL REVIEW

Despite growing humanitarian need across the countries we serve, income this year did not reach the level achieved in the previous period. Even so, the charity remained in a healthy financial position and recorded a strong surplus of £166,722, compared with 859,745 last year. While this reflects a lower surplus year on year, it still represents a positive outcome and provides a solid foundation for continued programme delivery.

Demand on our services remained high, particularly in response to escalating needs in Gaza, the expansion of Israel's assault into Lebanon, and the support required for Syrians returning to their homes. These pressures, alongside rising costs in key response areas, made this year's financial performance especially significant.

BY THE END OF THE YEAR, THE CHARITY'S RESERVES STOOD AT £890

A sum od
£907,122
in restricted funding was largely committed to ongoing work in Syria and Afghanistan, of the total

in reserve.

Human Aid & Advocacy remains committed to maintaining both flexibility and resilience in its humanitarian response. Even in a year with a lower surplus, the charity's strong reserve position and lack of major financial liabilities, such as loans or heavily committed income, place it in a stable position to sustain vital projects and respond to changing needs with confidence.

RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

Delivering aid in volatile and high-risk environments requires constant vigilance, careful judgement, and strong local oversight. Before entering any new partnership or launching work overseas, we carry out detailed assessments and due diligence to help protect both our beneficiaries and the integrity of our programmes.

To strengthen long-term resilience, we are also exploring new funding approaches, to create more stable and sustainable sources of support. These steps are intended to improve our flexibility, manage financial pressure more effectively, and ensure we can continue responding where the need is greatest.

- We enquired of management and staff the systems and controls the charity has in place, the areas of the financial statements that are most susceptible to the risk of irregularities and fraud, and whether there were any known instances of suspected or alleged fraud
- We obtained an understanding of the various legal and regulatory frameworks under which the charity operates, and made the necessary enquiries of management to understand if there were any major areas of non-compliance
- We considered incentives and opportunities that exist within the charity, including management bias, to present the potential for irregularities and fraud to be perpetuated, and tailored our risk assessment accordingly

To address the risk of fraud through management bias and override of controls, we:

- Tested revenue and expenditure to determine if the entities activities were aligned with its charitable objectives, as well as to detect any unusual relationships
- Made assessments on whether any judgements and assumptions in accounting estimates, or within charitable projects, were indicative of potential bias
