Richard Woodhull was appointed as a trustee on 13 January 2026, after the end of the reporting period.

Structure, governance and management

The charity is a Charitable Incorporated Organisation governed by its constitution. Trustees are appointed in accordance with the constitution. The trustees are responsible for the overall direction, governance and management of the charity and for ensuring that it operates in furtherance of its charitable purposes.

The trustees consider the skills and experience needed by the charity when making appointments. New trustees are provided with the governing document and relevant Charity Commission guidance and are briefed on their legal duties, decision-making responsibilities, financial controls, safeguarding and conflicts of interest.

The trustees review the principal risks facing the charity. During a period of inactivity, the main risks are loss of organisational capacity, failure to maintain regulatory compliance and inappropriate handling of personal information. These risks are managed through trustee oversight, record keeping and review of relevant policies before activities recommence.

Objectives and activities

The CIO's objects are, for the public benefit, to relieve sickness among people affected by Huntington's disease, including through financial assistance, support, education and practical advice for individuals and their families, dependants and carers; to advance public education relating to Huntington's disease; and to advance health by promoting research into Huntington's disease.

In planning the charity's work, the trustees have regard to the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit.

Activities and achievements

The charity did not carry out activities, make grants, provide services or undertake fundraising during the year ended 31 December 2025. Consequently, there were no charitable achievements to report for the period. The trustees remained responsible for maintaining the CIO and meeting its regulatory obligations.

The trustees intend to review the charity's future plans, resources and governance arrangements before any charitable activities recommence.

Financial review

The charity received no income and incurred no expenditure during the year. At 31 December 2025 it held no cash, other assets, liabilities or funds.

As the charity held no funds at the year end, its free reserves were £0. The trustees consider that a more detailed reserves policy is not currently necessary. The policy will be reviewed before activities or fundraising recommence.

The charity had no going-concern commitments at the reporting date. Its ability to resume activity will depend on obtaining suitable future funding and resources. The accounts have nevertheless been prepared on a going-concern basis because the CIO had no liabilities and the trustees intend to maintain its registration.

No trustee received remuneration, benefits or reimbursement of expenses from the charity during the year. The charity had no employees, trading subsidiaries, land or property.

Trustees' responsibilities

The trustees are responsible for preparing the Trustees' Annual Report and accounts in accordance with applicable law and the charity's governing document. They are responsible for keeping proper accounting records, safeguarding the charity's assets, taking reasonable steps to prevent and detect fraud and other irregularities, and ensuring that the charity complies with its legal and regulatory obligations.

The trustees confirm that the accounts have been prepared using the receipts and payments basis and give a true record of the charity's receipts, payments, assets and liabilities for the year.
