OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

The charity's principal objectives are to support Indigenous Peoples and local communities' livelihood systems in the Eastern African Region so that they can continue to be vibrant and maintain their cultural and spiritual heritage. LSI collaborates with communities, local governments, and institutions to sustain and thrive in food security, health, women's and girls' education, clean water, and land security.

Achievement and Performance

This year, our activities have been limited by the severe shortage of grant funding, largely due to the challenging global financial situation.

Despite our efforts to raise funds, we have been unsuccessful, as many donors are facing financial difficulties. However, we have continued researching the vulnerabilities of agropastoral communities in southern Ethiopia and raising awareness of their urgent needs.

For more than two consecutive years, over 30 villages have continued to suffer from severe flooding, resulting in the loss of homes, livelihoods and essential infrastructure. Schools, veterinary clinics and roads remain underwater, while landslides and other natural disasters have further affected these already vulnerable communities.

Unfortunately, due to the lack of funding, LSI has been unable to provide the much-needed support to help these communities recover and rebuild their lives. Nevertheless, we remain committed to highlighting their challenges and seeking opportunities to make a difference.

Future Goals

Looking ahead, LSI will continue to focus on finding solutions to the growing impact of climate change on the indigenous communities of southern Ethiopia, particularly those facing repeated flooding and other natural disasters.

We will continue our efforts to secure funding and build partnerships to help us deliver practical support to communities in need. Although financial challenges remain, we are fortunate to have a dedicated team of volunteer trustees who continue to support LSI's work and objectives without placing an additional financial burden on the organisation.

Our commitment remains strong, and we will continue working towards our goals while seeking opportunities to provide meaningful and lasting support to these vulnerable communities.

Public benefit

From 1 April 2008, Section 4 of the Charities Act 2006 requires all charities to meet the legal requirement that their aims are for the public benefit. The Charity Commission, in its Charities and Public Benefit guidance, states that there are two fundamental principles to be met to show that an organisation's aims are for the public benefit: Firstly, there must be an identifiable benefit, and secondly, the benefit must be to the public or a section of the public. The Trustees confirm that they have complied with the duty in Section 4 of the Charities Act 2006 to have due regard to public benefit guidance published by the Commission in determining the activities undertaken by the charity. The Trustees are satisfied that the aims and objectives of the charity, as well as the activities reported above to achieve those aims, meet these principles.
