The charity was dormant during the period in question with no assets held and no financial transactions entered into.