TURNING THE LENS ON DOMESTIC ABUSE

ANNUAL REPORT

2025

Registered charity number 1196530, FBC Centre, Wokingham, RG40 4ES

Foreword

As we reflect on 2025, I am deeply grateful to our team, partners and, most importantly, the survivors, beneficiaries, families and communities who allow us to walk alongside them. It is a privilege to work together to understand risk and vulnerability, identify gaps and provide trauma-informed, survivor-led support.
Trust and confidence in our services remain at the heart of everything we do.

The need for specialist domestic abuse support remains significant, while services continue to face increasing demand and funding pressures. In 2025, the Domestic Abuse Commissioner highlighted that more than a quarter of services surveyed were having to turn children away, with many others placing children on waiting lists. While legislative progress, including the recognition of post-separation coercive and controlling behaviour, is welcome, significant gaps remain in prevention, access to support, recognition and long-term recovery.

To receive the King's Award for voluntary service in 2025 was a true highlight and reward and wider than the team we want to thank all those who have supported our journey, given time or funds.

The experiences and feedback of survivors continue to demonstrate why accessible, inclusive and long-term survivor-led services are essential. In response, Kaleidoscopic UK remains committed to listening, adapting, filling gaps where we can and ensuring that survivors are supported not simply to survive, but to recover and thrive.

Victoria Robertson BEM, Founder & Chair of Trustees

Objectives for 2025

Kaleidoscopic Uk is a charitable incorporated charity (CIO) our purpose as defined in our constitution.

Our objectives for 2025 were to further develop, strengthen and expand our existing services in response to the increasing need for domestic abuse support, while continuing to raise awareness of domestic abuse in all its forms and the profound impact it can have on children, adults, families and communities.

We aimed to:

- Expand and strengthen our existing support services to reach more victim-survivors and respond to increasing demand.
- Identify and respond to gaps in support, adapting our services wherever possible to meet the needs emerging from the communities and survivors we work alongside.
- Continue developing inclusive, accessible and trauma-informed provision, recognising that every survivor's experience and recovery journey is different.
- Increase awareness and understanding of all forms of domestic abuse, including less recognised forms of abuse and the ongoing impacts on survivors following separation.
- Strengthen prevention and early intervention, particularly through education and work with children and young people.
- Amplify survivor voices and lived experience, ensuring that survivors remain central to the development and delivery of our work.
- Build partnerships and collaboration with professionals, organisations, schools and statutory services to improve pathways of support and contribute to wider systemic change.
- Continue advocating for change, challenging gaps in policy, practice and services that can leave victim-survivors without the support they need.

Key Activities & Achievements in 2025

Domestic Abuse Prevention Convention 2025

In October 2025, we held our Domestic Abuse Prevention Convention at Finchampstead Baptist Church, bringing together individuals, professionals and organisations to learn, share knowledge and strengthen their understanding of domestic abuse and its many forms.

The programme explored a range of complex and often under-recognised issues, including coercive control, stalking, child-to-parent abuse, domestic abuse within the Traveller community, forced marriage and honour-based abuse.

The convention brought together survivors with lived experience and multi-agency professionals, creating an environment where professional knowledge and lived experience could sit alongside one another.

Delegates gained new tools, knowledge and practical insights to support their work and responses to domestic abuse.

Feedback was overwhelmingly positive. Delegates particularly valued the lived-experience contributions and highlighted the importance of trauma-informed, compassionate and survivor-centred responses.

Educate2Eradicate

Our Educate2Eradicate education and prevention programme continued to provide vital early intervention and prevention work in schools and with those working with children and young people.

The programme covers healthy and unhealthy relationships, consent, recognising the signs and symptoms of abuse, trauma-informed approaches and responding appropriately to disclosures.

We engaged both children and young people and the educational professionals supporting them. Feedback demonstrated the value of combining education for pupils with increased knowledge and confidence among staff.

Educational staff described the programme as informative, practical and actionable, while young participants reported feeling more aware and empowered, with increased confidence to recognise abusive behaviour, seek help and support others.

By taking prevention into schools, we aim to equip young people with knowledge before harmful behaviours become normalised, while ensuring the adults around them have the confidence and skills to respond when concerns arise.

Survivor-Led Support Programmes

Throughout 2025, our survivor-led support programmes continued to provide free, independent and confidential support for children and adults who were currently experiencing, or had previously experienced, domestic abuse and other forms of abuse.

Our programmes provide different pathways according to individual needs, recognising that recovery is not linear and that there is no single approach that works for every survivor.

Sanctuary Groups provide ongoing peer support in a safe, welcoming environment. Unlike many services with strict thresholds or fixed end dates, our groups offer continuity and connection for survivors throughout their recovery journey.

Liberation From Abuse is our 10-week adult recovery programme, exploring the impacts of emotional, physical, financial and sexual abuse, coercive control and the processes involved in breaking the cycle of abuse.

Fun With Mum provides dedicated opportunities for mothers and their children to reconnect, play, have positive experiences together and develop safe peer-support networks.

Our Freedom Programme provides recovery-focused support for children aged 5–11 and teenagers aged 12–16, recognising the significant impact domestic abuse can have on children and young people and supporting them to understand their experiences in an age-appropriate way.

Alongside our peer and recovery programmes, our Holistic Health and Wellbeing provision continued to offer activities including sound healing, somatic healing and self-care sessions. These approaches provide additional tools for emotional regulation, wellbeing and recovery, particularly for survivors who may benefit from alternatives to traditional support.

Our Surviving to Thriving programme provided access to trauma therapy, with clients receiving up to 12 sessions through funding raised by Kaleidoscopic UK. This specialist support was delivered in partnership with the aMAZing Therapy Centre, providing survivors with an additional pathway towards longer-term recovery.

Together, these programmes create a continuum of support from early prevention and education, through immediate peer support, to longer-term recovery and therapeutic intervention.

Survivors tell us that our programmes have helped them develop a greater sense of safety, voice, knowledge of their rights and overall wellbeing. For many, access to specialist trauma therapy has been described as life changing.

Our groups also provide something that can be difficult to find elsewhere: continuity. Many survivors face service thresholds, waiting lists or time-limited interventions, while the effects of abuse can continue long after a crisis has passed. At Kaleidoscopic UK, we believe survivors should not have to reach crisis point to receive support, nor should support automatically end because a set number of sessions has been reached.

Our survivor-led model enables us to walk alongside people throughout their recovery journey — helping survivors move from surviving to rebuilding, reconnecting and ultimately thriving.

Activities for 2025

Our activities have continued to strengthen and develop throughout 2025 with a huge increase in clients referrals, additional needs identified and rise in accessing our services from partner organisations and services.

We continued to adapt, evolve and update all we provide based on feedback which is essential as a survivor-led charity. Expanding our monthly sessions and areas so that children and adults also have ongoing, longer term support.

Supporting our clients as well their families and evolving to do this is something we are passionate about and strive to do so in as many ways as possible. We implemented new activities by expanding our holistic health provision delivering monthly sound healing and somatic sessions.

Our projects mentioned above continue to help and in addition we raised funds to provide Christmas food hampers for the whole family at Christmas, thanks to the support of Wokingham United Charities.

Berkshire Community Foundation funded our award winning service 'Fun with Mum' for clients and their children monthly to attend in person for some activities, fun and food together with others in similar situations.

We also continued to help support clients in partnership with other organisations to enable presents for their children on birthdays and Christmas which can be harder financially for survivors.
Huge thanks to Berkshire Christmas helper elves and the Giving tree for their continued support.

Awards 2025

Receiving the Pride of Bracknell Silver award for ‘Charity of the Year‘ was such a delightful evening and honour! To be nominated let alone to win Silver was a huge blessing, which we are truly grateful for and want to thank all involved and for the 20th anniversary of the awards and recognising so many incredible people and charities we are blessed to work alongside was truly special.

The King's Award for Voluntary Service 2025

2025 was a very special year for Kaleidoscopic UK as we were incredibly honoured to receive The King's Award for Voluntary Service, the highest award a voluntary organisation can receive in the UK. Being recognised alongside other exceptional voluntary organisations was a hugely proud moment for our survivor-led charity and, most importantly, for the dedicated volunteers whose compassion, commitment and lived experience are at the heart of our work.

The award recognises the incredible contribution made by our volunteers, who give their time, skills and personal experience to support children and adults affected by domestic abuse and help us raise awareness, provide peer support, deliver programmes and create lasting change. We were especially proud to receive the award as a survivor-led organisation, demonstrating the power of lived experience and the difference that volunteers can make when survivors are trusted, valued and empowered to lead change.

We were honoured to receive the award at a presentation at Wokingham Town Hall in March 2025. It was a truly memorable occasion and a moment we shared with our volunteers, supporters and the wider Kaleidoscopic UK community.

We dedicate the King's recognition to every one of our amazing and inspirational volunteers, trustees, patrons and all involved who continue to create change, support and stand alongside survivors with courage, compassion and kindness thank you for helping make everything we do possible and to those who trust us to be a part of their healing journey, we hope this reminds you that you are capable of anything.

On World Kindness Day, Vickie, Founder and CEO of Kaleidoscopic UK, was honoured as one of the Kindness & Leadership: 50 Leading Lights in the UK—a national recognition celebrating individuals who are redefining leadership through compassion, integrity, and courage. Vickie was recognised alongside 49 outstanding leaders across business and leadership, with the accolade featured in the Financial Times.

The achievement was marked by a spectacular celebration hosted by Pinky Lilani CBE DL, Founder of the Kindness & Leadership campaign. The event took place at the residence of the Mexican Ambassador to the UK, Josefa González-Blanco Ortiz Mena, who offered a warm and generous welcome to guests from across sectors.

Vickie shared: "I*t was an absolutely breathtaking evening filled with kindness, laughter, and fun. Too often kindness is seen as weakness, instead of the strength that it is. Leading with heart, compassion, and courage is something we feel blessed and honoured to do—and the world needs more of it.*
Thank you to everyone who nominated, to the incredible judging panel, and to the kind leaders I feel so blessed to have met.
As survivors, our kindness is sometimes used against us, so being recognised for that very quality was a true pinch-me moment. To be surrounded by such authentic and inspirational beings was a profound honour. Thank you to all."

Additional Projects

Kaleidoscopic UK were delighted and honored to be able to take some of the families that we support for a much deserved and fun day out to Marwell Zoo thanks to the Wokingham Lions.

The families whom most had never been to a zoo or ever seen some of the animals got to see penguins, tigers and snow leopards. The children were astounded by them all and wanted to take the animals home as well drawing some of the new animals and memories they got to experience and share with their family and together as a community. Thank you Wokingham Lions!

There are not enough words to capture the magic of our 4-day wellbeing weekend with 121 of our clients and their children!

The sunshine, the woodland, the glamping site, the laughter and even the quiet pauses together... all became part of a journey of healing. For many of our families, time away is rare, and chances to reconnect with nature and with each other are even rarer. For some it was their first or only holiday.

Survivors of domestic abuse often carry invisible wounds – stress, hypervigilance, isolation and exhaustion. But in the safety of community, surrounded by fresh air and gentle nurture, something incredible happens:

- Children laugh freely.
- Parents breathe a little deeper.
- Families rediscover joy in each other's company.
- Healing begins, not through words alone, but through shared moments of play, creativity and peace.

Across the weekend, there truly was something for everyone – from sound healing, reiki, somatics and music to crate stacking, high ropes, climbing walls, bowling, campfires (and yummy smores) stained glass, arts and crafts, nature walks and mindfulness boards. Every activity built on confidence, courage and connection.

Families told us this felt like "the best holiday ever" a time to heal, recharge and make memories they never thought possible.

Special thank you to:

- Bidfoods – for donating ALL the food for 4 days, nourishing body and soul.
- John Lewis- for funds to provide activities
- The Body Shop & Tesco – for pamper pack items and a reminder to every family that they are cared for and worthy of kindness and self care.
- Wokingham United Charities – for making the magical glamping experience possible plus many fun filled activities, creating a safe and special place to rest, dream and play.

And above all, our extraordinary volunteers – the heart of it all. You set up, decorated, cooked, cleaned, led activities, supported families and gave every ounce of energy to make this weekend unforgettable. You showed what community, compassion, peer support and teamwork truly mean.

Throughout 2025, Kaleidoscopic UK continued to build strong connections within our communities by attending and hosting a wide range of events, community days, awareness campaigns and fundraising stalls. From Wokingham and Reading Pride to local community events and celebrations, these opportunities enabled us to raise vital awareness of domestic abuse, share information about our support services, challenge stigma and ensure that survivor voices remain visible within our communities. Our stalls also provided a safe and informal opportunity for people to speak with us, learn about the signs and impacts of domestic abuse, access resources and find out how they could support our work. Alongside raising awareness, these events helped us generate much-needed funds, strengthen partnerships and develop new community connections, helping Kaleidoscopic UK reach more people who may need our support.

Christmas can be a particularly difficult and financially pressured time for families, and for victim-survivors of domestic abuse, these pressures can be even greater. In 2025, we were delighted to continue our Christmas Family Food Hamper project, providing more than 50 families we support with generous hampers filled with festive treats, essential food and everything needed to help make Christmas a little brighter. The hampers also provided additional food to help families through the festive period, when household budgets can be stretched and accessing support can be more challenging. This initiative ensured that families knew they were not alone and that their community was thinking of them at Christmas. We extend our heartfelt thanks to Wokingham United Charities for their generous support in helping us make this possible.

Christmas 2025 was filled with festive spirit as we proudly hosted our second Winter Wonderland Ball, with the wonderful support of our Patron, Anouska Lancaster. The event was a tremendous success, selling out and exceeding our fundraising target. It brought together supporters, partners, volunteers and friends of Kaleidoscopic UK for a memorable evening of celebration, while raising vital funds to enable us to continue providing free, holistic and survivor-led support to children and adults affected by domestic abuse. We are incredibly grateful to everyone who helped make the evening such a special and successful occasion.

Awareness

Raising awareness of all areas of abuse, its impacts, the gaps within systems and services, and the lived reality for victim-survivors is embedded within Kaleidoscopic UK's constitution and remains central to our work.

Throughout 2025, we continued to use a combination of social media campaigns, in-person and virtual events, training, education and prevention activity to reach individuals, communities, professionals and organisations. These opportunities enabled us not only to raise awareness, but also to create conversations, challenge misconceptions, share survivor voices and provide practical information that can help people recognise abuse and access support.

A significant part of this work was our Educate 2 Eradicate prevention programme, through which we delivered domestic abuse education to thousands of young people in schools. Our approach focuses on prevention from an early age, helping young people understand healthy and unhealthy relationships, recognise abusive behaviours, understand their impact and know where they can turn for help.

We also delivered a wide range of awareness campaigns throughout the year, alongside training and educational opportunities for professionals and the wider community.

o learn, share experiences and consider how we can collectively strengthen prevention and support.

Our 16 Days of Activism activity and White Ribbon vigils continued to grow, expanding into new areas and venues. Alongside our own campaigns and events, Kaleidoscopic UK also participated in numerous community and awareness events throughout the year, ensuring that survivor voices were represented and heard.

Our Post Separation Abuse Awareness Week (#PSAAW) was a particular success. Survivor-led resources reached a significant online audience, with some resources being widely shared and translated into different languages, extending their reach far beyond our immediate communities. The response also demonstrated the significant demand for greater understanding of post-separation abuse. As a result, we were invited to deliver training to other services and organisations, including organisations in Wales, and were invited to contribute to podcasts and wider discussions on this important and often misunderstood form of abuse.

Our awareness activity also included Sexual Assault Awareness Month and Teen Dating Violence Awareness Month, alongside our annual Domestic Abuse Prevention Convention, held to mark Domestic Abuse Awareness Month. These initiatives provided opportunities to bring together survivors, professionals, organisations and members of the community to learn, share experiences and consider how we can collectively strengthen prevention and support.

Our 16 Days of Activism activity and White Ribbon vigils continued to grow, expanding into new areas and venues. Alongside our own campaigns and events, Kaleidoscopic UK also participated in numerous community and awareness events throughout the year, ensuring that survivor voices were represented and heard.
Importantly, our awareness work is not separate from our support. Outreach, education, prevention and direct support are interconnected. Every campaign, training session and event provides an opportunity to reach someone who may be experiencing abuse, someone concerned about a loved one, or a professional who may be better equipped to recognise and respond to abuse as a result of what they have learned.

Through this combined approach, Kaleidoscopic UK continued to raise awareness, challenge silence, amplify survivor voices and contribute to long-term prevention and cultural change.

CHARITY COMMISSION FOR ENGLAND AND WALES

Independent examiner's report on the accounts

Section A Independent Examiner's Report

Report to the trustees/ members of	Kaleidoscopic UK
On accounts for the year ended	31st December 2024	Charity no	1196530
Set out on pages	1-2

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 144 of the Charities Act 2011 (the Charities Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

It is my responsibility to:

- examine the accounts under section 145 of the Charities Act,
- to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 145(5)(b) of the Charities Act, and
- to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent examiner's statement

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

Independent examiner's statement

In connection with my examination, no material matters have come to my attention which gives me cause to believe that in, any material respect,:

- the accounting records were not kept in accordance with section 130 of the Charities Act; or
- the accounts did not accord with the accounting records; or
- the accounts did not comply with the applicable requirements concerning the form and content of accounts set out in the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination.

I have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.

Conclusion

With Sincere Thanks

We extend our heartfelt thanks to every survivor we have been privileged to support. Thank you for your trust, your courage, and for sharing your experiences and insight with us. Your voices are at the heart of everything we do, and it is through your strength and lived experience that we continue to learn, grow and create meaningful change.
We are incredibly grateful to our dedicated volunteers, who give their time, skills and compassion so generously. Their commitment, humility and professionalism enable us to provide safe, inclusive and survivor-centred support to those who need us.

To our partners, collaborators, schools, legal services, healthcare professionals and statutory organisations, thank you for working with and alongside us. By sharing knowledge, expertise and resources, we are able to reach more people, strengthen pathways of support and extend our collective impact.

And to our funders, donors and community supporters, thank you. Your generosity and belief in our work make it possible for us to continue providing vital support, education, prevention and advocacy at a time when financial pressures and demand for services continue to grow.

Looking Back, Moving Forward

Throughout 2025, Kaleidoscopic UK continued to deliver high-impact, survivor-led support, education, prevention and advocacy, despite significant systemic, financial and resource challenges.

We continued to listen to survivors, challenge systems that fail them, raise awareness, educate communities and develop innovative and holistic ways of supporting children and adults throughout their recovery journeys.

Our work remains rooted in a simple but powerful belief: survivors deserve to be heard, believed, supported and given the opportunity to rebuild their lives without domestic abuse defining their future.

As we look ahead, we remain committed to centering survivor voices, championing lived experience, pursuing innovation and challenging the gaps that continue to leave victim-survivors without the support they deserve.

Together, we will continue working towards a society where domestic abuse is understood, prevented and challenged and where survival is not the end of the story, but the beginning of a future filled with choice, hope, safety and possibility.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The charity's trustees are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 144 of the Charities Act 2011 (the Charities Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

It is my responsibility to:

- examine the accounts under section 145 of the Charities Act,
- to follow the procedures laid down in the general Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 145(5)(b) of the Charities Act, and
- to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent examiner's statement

My examination was carried out in accordance with general Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair' view and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

Independent examiner's statement

In connection with my examination, no material matters have come to my attention which gives me cause to believe that in, any material respect,:

- the accounting records were not kept in accordance with section 130 of the Charities Act; or
- the accounts did not accord with the accounting records; or
- the accounts did not comply with the applicable requirements concerning the form and content of accounts set out in the Charities (Accounts and Reports) Regulations 2008 other than any requirement that the accounts give a 'true and fair' view which is not a matter considered as part of an independent examination.

I have come across no other matters in connection with the examination to which attention should be drawn in this report in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
