MESSAGE FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

DEAR READER,

As we reflect on 2025, I am immensely grateful to everyone who has stood alongside Stop Uyghur Genocide. In the face of continued repression and political inaction, your solidarity has helped us keep the Uyghur struggle for justice, freedom and dignity in the public eye.

This year, we strengthened our parliamentary advocacy and expanded our efforts to expose Uyghur forced labour across global supply chains, from fashion to critical minerals and green technology. Our campaign challenging Shein's proposed London Stock Exchange listing brought greater scrutiny to corporate accountability, while our work with parliamentarians, legal experts and international partners continued to press for meaningful action. Four years after the Uyghur Tribunal's verdict, we remain clear that recognition of genocide must lead to accountability.

We have also worked to ensure that the Uyghur people are recognised not only through the injustices they endure, but through their culture, identity and resilience. From parliamentary events to international gatherings and public demonstrations, we have amplified Uyghur voices and strengthened solidarity with other communities facing repression.

These efforts are only possible because of our supporters, partners and funders. Your commitment sustains our work and strengthens our determination to challenge indifference and hold those responsible to account.

As we look to the year ahead, our resolve remains unwavering: to end Uyghur forced labour, secure accountability for the genocide, and defend the rights, dignity and freedom of the Uyghur people. There can be no lasting justice without action, and we will continue to demand it wherever it is needed.

Thank you for standing with us. Together, we will continue to speak truth to power and work towards a future in which Uyghurs can live freely, with their identity, culture and fundamental rights protected.

With gratitude,

Rahima Mahmut

Executive Director, Stop Uyghur Genocide

OUR VISION, MISSION, AND VALUES

OUR VISION

At Stop Uyghur Genocide, we envision a world where the Uyghur genocide and human rights abuses are eradicated, where the Uyghur people can live with dignity, safety, and freedom. We work towards having a world that not only acknowledges the rich cultural heritage of the Uyghur community but also actively protects their rights, ensuring that their voices are heard and respected.

We believe that the lessons of history remind us of the fragility of freedom and the dire consequences of inaction. Therefore, we are committed to fighting for the freedom of the Uyghur people and ensuring that their struggle is never forgotten, reinforcing the imperative that we must collectively advocate against oppression and tyranny to prevent the loss of liberty for any community.

OUR MISSION

Our mission at Stop Uyghur Genocide is to prevent the ongoing genocide of the Uyghur people and to advocate fiercely for their rights both in the UK and internationally. We are committed to raising awareness about the severe human rights violations faced by the Uyghur community, including arbitrary detention, forced labour, forced sterilisation, organ harvesting, mass surveillance and cultural erasure. Through strategic advocacy, we aim to influence government policies and mobilise public opinion to support decisive action against these atrocities.

We are calling on the UK government to officially declare the ongoing abuses as genocide and to take appropriate actions in international courts. Additionally, we demand the cessation of all trade that involves Uyghur forced labour and the systemic rights abuses of the Uyghur people. By empowering the Uyghur diaspora and their allies, we ensure that their stories and struggles are at the forefront of the global conversation about human rights, reinforcing the urgency for accountability and justice.

OUR VALUES

Our work is guided by core principles of justice, solidarity, and empowerment. We believe that every individual deserves the right to live free from oppression, tyranny and violence. At Stop Uyghur Genocide, we stand in solidarity with the Uyghur community and all those fighting for justice, recognising the interconnectedness of our struggles.

2025 YEAR IN REVIEW

JANUARY

The year began with SUG stepping up its campaign to end Uyghur forced labour, challenging Shein's proposed listing on the London Stock Exchange and demanding action from the Financial Conduct Authority after months of correspondence. We also protested outside the Thai Embassy, calling for protection for 48 Uyghur men at risk of deportation to China. Executive Director Rahima Mahmut gave evidence to Parliament's Human Rights Committee on forced labour.

FEBRUARY

February centred on strengthening SUG's parliamentary engagement, with a drop-in event marking the 28th anniversary of the Ghulja Massacre bringing the issue directly to MPs and creating opportunities to build relationships with parliamentarians. We also joined the wider mobilisation against China's proposed mega-embassy in London, while Rahima Mahmut spoke at the Geneva Summit for Human Rights and Democracy.

MARCH

March saw SUG bring Uyghur human rights issues to the forefront through parliamentary engagement, public campaigning and cultural advocacy.For International Women's Day, SUG brought together voices including Bishop Rose and Rabbi Barbara Bort to celebrate women's resilience, particularly that of Uyghur women facing persecution.

We also supported a parliamentary screening of All Static & Noise, joined thousands protesting China's proposed mega-embassy, and honoured imprisoned Uyghur poet Gulnisa Imin on World Poetry Day. The month concluded with the delivery of a petition signed by more than 10,100 people to Downing Street, calling for stronger action against goods produced through forced labour.

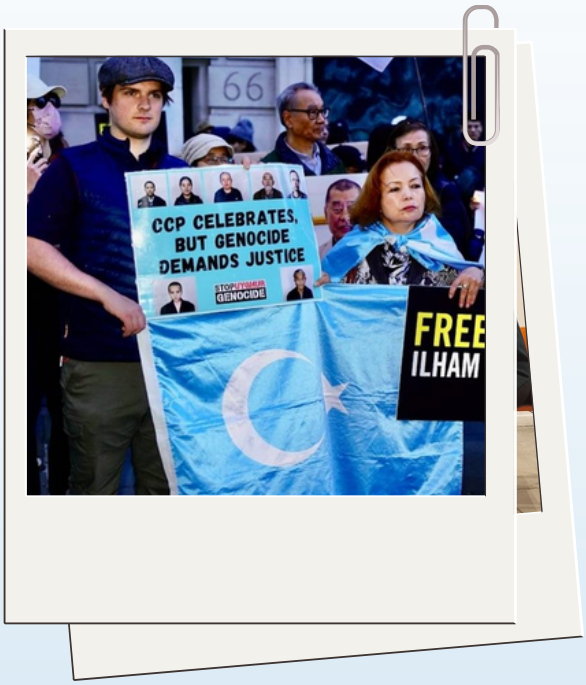

APRIL

April saw SUG strengthen its advocacy to end Uyghur forced labour, meeting with the UK's Independent Anti-Slavery Commissioner, Eleanor Lyons, to discuss new analysis of China's economic planning and the growing risks of forced labour. International media coverage of Zhang Yabo's testimony also brought renewed attention to continuing repression in the Uyghur Region. Alongside this work, Executive Director Rahima Mahmut spoke at the Bar Human Rights Committee's Organ Trafficking in Peace and Conflict event at Doughty Street Chambers.

MAY

SUG's campaign to end Uyghur forced labour made significant progress, with our propossed legal bid to Shein's proposed London Stock Exchange listing playing a part in the growing scrutiny surrounding the company. The listing subsequently stalled, marking an important development in efforts to hold businesses accountable for links to forced labour.

JUNE

June saw SUG expand its work on ending forced labour, through the launch of Global Rights Compliance's Risk at the Source report, examining the links between critical mineral supply chains and state-imposed forced labour in the Uyghur Region. We brought the findings to UK officials, highlighting the risks posed by these supply chains. We also launched Truth in Plain Sight, a webinar series examining Uyghur forced labour and the need for greater corporate accountability.

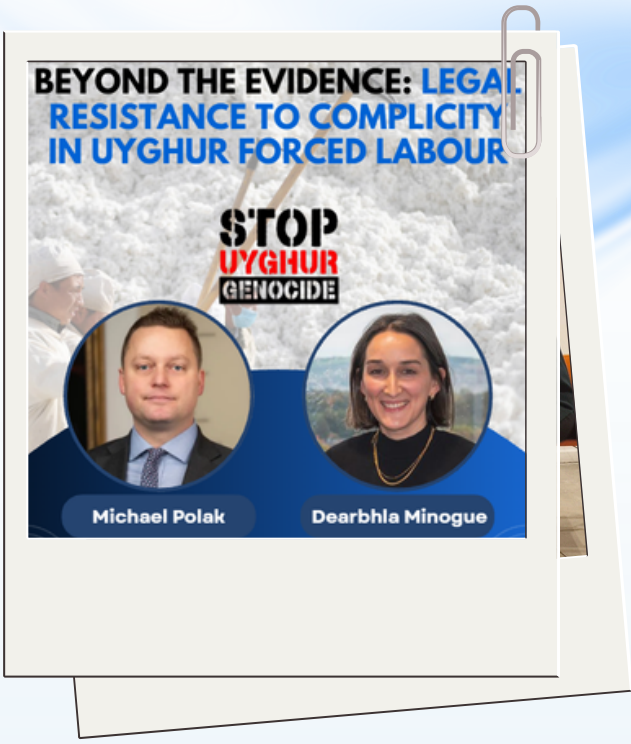

JULY

July combined remembrance, parliamentary advocacy and cultural engagement. We commemorated the 16th anniversary of the Urumchi Massacre alongside Uyghur Solidarity Campaign UK and other partners. We also co-hosted the parliamentary event 20 Years for Learning the Quran with the All-Party Parliamentary Group on Freedom of Religion or Belief, highlighting the persecution of Uyghur religious practice. Later in the month, an event at the Royal College of Art brought Uyghur music, film and discussion of forced labour and ethical supply chains to a wider audience.

AUGUST

August was a busy month of campaigning, legal advocacy and public engagement. We hosted the Is Justice Keeping Pace? webinar with legal experts Michael Polak and Dearbhla Minogue, examining the legal challenges to Shein's proposed London Stock Exchange listing and efforts to hold companies accountable for Uyghur forced labour. Rahima Mahmut also joined the launch of the Universal Resistance Movement outside the Chinese Embassy, while we supported a major march opposing the proposed Chinese mega-embassy. For International Youth Day, we highlighted the case of detained Uyghur model Merdan Ghappar, bringing renewed attention to the human stories behind ongoing repression.

SEPTEMEBER

In September, SUG's Executive Director, Rahima Mahmut, spoke at a conference in Ankara on Uyghur Genocide, Identity and Cultural Destruction. Addressing the opening panel, she emphasised the urgent need to protect Uyghur identity, culture and heritage in the face of ongoing persecution. SUG also co-hosted a parliamentary briefing with the APPG on Uyghurs, the Inter-Parliamentary Alliance on China and Exiger, exploring how AI-powered technology can help trace supply chains and identify links to forced labour.

OCTOBER

In October, SUG raised awareness of the links between Uyghur forced labour and the green technology sector, hosting a webinar featuring Professor Laura Murphy, a leading researcher on Uyghur forced labour, and Luke de Pulford, Director of the Inter-Parliamentary Alliance on China. The discussion explored how forced labour is embedded in global supply chains, including those supporting the transition to renewable energy. Rahima Mahmut also delivered lectures at CEA CAPA London Center and Syracuse University's London programme, sharing insights into Uyghur history, persecution and genocide. SUG was also recognised by SME News as a Leading Pioneer in Human Rights 2025.

NOVEMBER

In November, SUG wrote to the Culture Secretary about RedBird's proposed takeover of The Telegraph and its implications for press freedom. Executive Director Rahima Mahmut attended the 14th UN Forum on Business and Human Rights in Geneva, engaging with international stakeholders and coalition partners, and contributed to the Berlin Uyghur Women's Dialogue, advancing efforts to protect Uyghur women's rights and freedoms.

DECEMBER

To finish the year, SUG co-hosted a major parliamentary event marking Uyghur Genocide Recognition Day, bringing together leading legal experts, parliamentarians and human rights advocates to address the links between forced labour and genocide, four years after the Uyghur Tribunal's verdict. Our Executive Director, Rahima Mahmut, also spoke at a parliamentary commemoration on sexual and reproductive violence as a means of genocide. We closed the year by joining coalition partners outside the proposed Chinese mega-embassy on UN Human Rights Day, standing in solidarity with Uyghurs, Hongkongers, Tibetans, Taiwanese and Chinese dissidents and calling for justice, freedom and accountability.

SUG OPPORTUNITIES AND FUTURE PLANS

As SUG looks ahead to 2026–2027, we will build on our work to strengthen parliamentary advocacy, challenge corporate complicity in Uyghur forced labour, and push for meaningful policy change. Our priorities include securing accountability for the Uyghur genocide, addressing forced labour in critical minerals and renewable energy supply chains, challenging the misuse of surveillance technology, and ensuring that Uyghur voices, culture and identity remain at the heart of our work..

i. Recognition of the Uyghur Genocide

The evidence remains overwhelming: the Chinese government continues to carry out systematic persecution of the Uyghur people through mass detention, forced labour, and cultural erasure. One of our core objectives remains securing formal recognition of the Uyghur genocide by the UK Government.

In 2026, we will continue to build cross-party support for recognition through the All-Party Parliamentary Group (APPG) on Uyghurs. One of our priorities, moving forward, is to ensure the APPG is active, well-resourced, and effective, serving as a central platform for parliamentary debate, evidence-sharing, and collaboration. Through strategic engagement with MPs, ministers, and allies across both Houses, we will continue to push for policy change that reflects the UK's moral and legal obligations to prevent and respond to genocide.

ii. Mega Embassy Campaign

Despite widespread opposition, the UK Government approved the proposed Chinese mega-embassy at Royal Mint Court in January 2026. The decision is now subject to ongoing legal challenges.

SUG will continue to oppose the development, highlighting the risks of transnational repression and intimidation facing Uyghurs and other diaspora communities. We will support efforts to challenge the decision through the courts and press parliamentarians to hold the Government accountable.

iii. Risk at the Source: Critical Mineral Supply Chains and State-Imposed Forced Labour in the Uyghur Region

In partnership with the Global Rights Compliance (GRC) team, SUG will support outreach on GRC's landmark research connecting global critical mineral supply chains to state-imposed forced labour in the Uyghur Region. The report reveals extensive PRC investment in mining, processing, and manufacturing in the region — all linked to the exploitation of Uyghur and Turkic peoples. Over the coming year, SUG will engage policymakers, ministers, industry leaders, and civil society to translate this research into policy action, advocating for ethical sourcing in critical minerals used for clean energy and technology.

iv. Human Rights Abusing Tech

China's use of surveillance technology continues to underpin its repression of the Uyghur people. Companies such as Hikvision, Dahua, BGI Group, and MGI Tech remain complicit in mass surveillance and genomic data collection. Through our Human Rights Abusing Tech campaign, SUG will continue to press the UK Government to ban the sale and use of technology linked to human rights abuses, and to adopt ethical standards for research, procurement, and trade partnerships.

v. Tackling Uyghur Forced Labour

The products of Uyghur forced labour are currently flooding the UK supply chains, with over 17 major industries implicated in the Chinese government's human rights violations. Despite the scale of the crisis, the UK is currently falling behind other nations on policy measures to tackle modern slavery and genocide. Some of the companies sourcing from the Uyghur region are selling their products to the UK market, where there are currently no import bans in place. Through our Tackling Uyghur Forced Labour campaign, SUG continues to challenge the government, councils, and corporations to take decisive action.

We remain engaged with the UK Parliament's Human Rights Committee, providing evidence and testimony on forced labour supply chains. Following our action against Shein's proposed listing on the London Stock Exchange, where we served the company's legal team and the Financial Conduct Authority with a dossier of evidence on supply chain abuses, we continue to hold corporations accountable.

To broaden public awareness, SUG will host a series of expert-led webinars throughout 2026, offering free educational sessions on forced labour, ethical trade, and global accountability mechanisms.

vi. Tackling Solar Slavery

Evidence of Uyghur forced labour in the solar industry remains overwhelming. With around 35% of the world's solar-grade polysilicon produced in the Uyghur Region, our goal is to ensure that the UK's green transition does not come at the cost of human suffering. In 2026, SUG will continue parliamentary advocacy and partnerships with ethical energy experts to demand transparent supply chains and enforceable human rights standards across the renewable sector.

SUG also actively supported and campaigned for the GB Energy Bill amendment, which sought to prevent UK government subsidies and contracts from benefiting companies implicated in Uyghur forced labour. Through direct advocacy with MPs and allied organisations, we helped keep this critical issue on the parliamentary agenda, reinforcing our call for stronger ethical safeguards in UK supply chains.

vii. EUFL Empowering Uyghur Youth Scheme

Launched in partnership with the EUFL (End Uyghur Forced Labour) coalition, this project aims to equip young Uyghurs in the UK (ages 16+) with the tools, training, and mentorship to become the next generation of human rights advocates. Running until April 2026, the programme offers professional development in advocacy, public speaking, campaign design, and digital safety, alongside mentorship from experienced campaigners and experts.

Conclusion

As we move into 2026–2027, Stop Uyghur Genocide will continue to drive advocacy, strengthen partnerships, and amplify Uyghur voices. Together with our allies, we remain steadfast in challenging injustice, defending human rights, and ensuring the Uyghur people are never forgotten.

FOR THE PERIOD 01 JANUARY 2025 TO 31 DECEMBER 2025

The trustees present their report with the financial statements of the charity for the period 01 January 2025 to 31 December 2025. The trustees have adopted the provisions of Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective 1 January 2019).

OBJECTIVES AND ACTIVITIES

Objectives and aims The charity's purpose is the advancement of human rights, as set out in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and related United Nations conventions. Our work focuses on promoting and protecting the rights of Uyghur people and other Turkic groups in the Uyghur Region of northwest China, as well as those living in exile.

To achieve these objectives, the charity raises public and political awareness of human rights violations, monitors and reports on abuses, and conducts and supports research on issues affecting Uyghurs. We also provide expert input on legislation and policies related to human rights, promote public engagement and support for the protection of fundamental freedoms, and build partnerships with civil society, academics, and policymakers to advocate for meaningful action.

The trustees may, where appropriate, engage in political or advocacy activities that directly support the charity's objectives. Such activities are undertaken only to the extent justified by the resources committed and are not the dominant means through which the charity pursues its aims.

Significant activities

Stop Uyghur Genocide (SUG) is a UK-based grassroots organisation founded and led by Uyghur human rights activist Rahima Mahmut. The charity brings together individuals, communities, and organisations to campaign for the protection and promotion of the human rights of Uyghurs and other Turkic peoples.

Our mission is to raise awareness in the UK of the ongoing persecution, forced labour, and other crimes being committed by the Chinese government against Uyghurs and Turkic groups. We work to inspire action across all areas of society — from NGOs and faith communities to student groups, trade unions, and local networks — encouraging collective responsibility to speak out against human rights abuses and to challenge complicity in them.

SUG's activities include advocacy and policy engagement with parliamentarians and government bodies, public education and awareness campaigns, events, webinars, and media outreach. We also collaborate with partner organisations to support accountability, ethical trade, and human rights protections. More information about our work can be found at www.stopuyghurgenocide.uk.
