2. Objectives and public benefit

The charity's object is:

> "The relief of persons suffering or at risk of suffering from insulinoma and their families by advancing the education of the public, including medical practitioners, in all aspects of insulinoma by promoting research into its causes and treatment and by disseminating the useful results of such research."

The trustees have had due regard to the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit when planning the charity's activities. The charity delivers public benefit by making reliable information and peer support more accessible, helping affected people and families feel less isolated, improving awareness of insulinoma, and sharing useful learning about research and treatment.

3. Activities and achievements

Insulinoma Charity UK is entirely volunteer led. During the year, trustees and volunteers concentrated on practical support, trustworthy information, community connection, awareness and fundraising.

Support and community

The charity provided one-to-one guidance and peer connection for people at different stages of the insulinoma journey, including those seeking a diagnosis, people living with a confirmed or malignant insulinoma, and families navigating surgery, treatment and recovery.

By December 2025, the charity's online communities included more than 1,000 members in its diagnosed-insulinoma group, more than 1,500 in its suspected-insulinoma group, and 102 in its malignant-insulinoma group.

These are community membership figures rather than unique beneficiary totals; an individual may belong to more than one group.

Information, awareness and research

- Maintained online information and peer-led resources, grounded in lived experience and designed to help people prepare for clinical conversations.
- Shared information about relevant research and emerging treatment options, including information about the upLIFT study, without replacing individual medical advice.
- Continued work to develop psychological support tailored to the needs of people affected by insulinoma and their families.
- Engaged with clinicians, researchers and the wider community to improve understanding of insulinoma and to bring patient experience into discussions about care.

Fundraising highlights

Supporters raised funds and awareness through personal challenges and memorial events. Publicised highlights during the reporting year included:

Supporter	Activity	Publicised total
Katie Robertson	London Landmarks Half Marathon, in memory of Graham	£2,325.00
Becky Darby and Sharron Lynch	Memorial charity gala for Callum Lynch	£7,100.00
Ian Houson	AJ Bell Great Scottish Run	£2,963.67
Elliot Wright	Blenheim Palace Triathlon	£1,000.00

Campaign totals are shown as publicised. Accounting receipts are reported separately in section 5 and may differ because of timing, donation route or processing arrangements.

Priorities for 2026–27

- Pilot a residential retreat bringing together peer support, practical information and specialist psychological support.
- Strengthen the quality and reach of information for patients, families and professionals.
- Develop sustainable fundraising while protecting the charity's independence and patient-first purpose.

4. Structure, governance and management

Constitution and trustee appointment

Insulinoma Charity UK is a foundation CIO. Under its constitution, the only voting members are the charity trustees. New trustees are appointed for life by resolution at a properly convened trustee meeting, with regard to the skills, knowledge and experience needed for effective administration. No external person or body is entitled to appoint trustees.

Trustee change during the year

Paula Davis, a founding trustee and the charity's Secretary, died on 14 February 2026 and ceased to hold office on that date. The trustees record their gratitude for her contribution to establishing and supporting the charity. Andrew Derek Davis was appointed by trustee resolution during February 2026 and accepted appointment as Trustee and Secretary.

How the charity is managed

The trustees are responsible for strategy, safeguarding the charity's assets, legal and regulatory compliance, financial oversight and the delivery of charitable activities. Day-to-day work is carried out by trustees and volunteers; the charity had no paid employees during the year.

Trustees consider conflicts of interest in accordance with the constitution and make collective decisions in the charity's best interests. New trustees receive the governing document, key policies, current financial information and an explanation of trustee duties and the charity's activities.

Risk management

Principal risk	How it is managed
Volunteer capacity and continuity	Share responsibilities, document key processes and keep trustee succession and volunteer support under review.
Quality and safety of health information	Use reputable sources, distinguish peer experience from medical advice and encourage users to consult qualified clinicians.
Safeguarding, privacy and online communities	Apply safeguarding and data-protection policies, moderate communities and restrict access to personal information.
Income concentration and independence	Develop a broader supporter base, review significant funding relationships and retain trustee control of content and priorities.
Financial control and regulatory compliance	Review expenditure, bank balances, filings and key obligations through trustee oversight.

Trustee remuneration and expenses

No trustee received remuneration or other benefit for acting as a trustee. Payments of £586 recorded as trustee travel and accommodation represented reimbursement of costs incurred on charity business.

5. Financial review

The accounts have been prepared on the receipts and payments basis. All funds held during the year were unrestricted. The charity had no restricted funds or endowment funds.

Financial performance

Total payments	£6,427	£1,056
Net receipts	£18,716	£3,056

Income grew substantially during the year, reflecting corporate donations, private donations and community fundraising support. Expenditure increased as the charity invested in member content, awareness and branding, and the digital and regulatory foundations needed to support its work.

6. Reserves and financial position

Reserves policy

The trustees' policy is to retain sufficient unrestricted cash to meet foreseeable operating costs, maintain core support and information services, and meet committed or planned charitable expenditure. Because the charity is at an early stage of development and income can fluctuate, no fixed numerical target was set during the year. The trustees review the level and purpose of reserves at least annually.

At 5 April 2026, unrestricted cash reserves were £28,764. The trustees consider this level appropriate in light of the charity's plans to extend support, develop specialist content and psychological support, and protect continuity if income varies.

Assets and liabilities

Cash funds at 5 April 2026	Unrestricted funds
The Co-operative Bank — current account	£438
The Co-operative Bank — deposit account	£28,326
Total cash funds	£28,764

No other monetary assets, investment assets, assets retained for the charity's own use or liabilities were recorded in the receipts and payments accounts. There were no fund deficits.

Events after the reporting period

After the year end, the charity entered into a £25,000 founding partnership with Rezolute. The funding was received in September 2026 and is therefore not included in the 2025–26 receipts and payments accounts. It is intended to support the pilot residential retreat planned for October 2026 and the development of further retreats, while the trustees retain responsibility for the charity's activities, information and priorities.

Trustees' responsibilities

The trustees are responsible for preparing this report and the charity's accounts, keeping appropriate accounting records, safeguarding the charity's assets and taking reasonable steps to prevent and detect fraud and other irregularities. The trustees confirm that this report reflects the charity's activities and financial position for the period stated.
