Finance Matters is a charity established with the purpose of providing educational courses for young adults (16-19 years old) in the area of finance. Areas covered primarily related to financial markets, their history and how they are relevant today.

Course materials are still being prepared at this stage and several unforeseen issues and overall financial market volatility meant that the person responsible for preparing the materials had other more pressing matters and has yet to finish the construction of the course.

As a result, no courses were given, no expenditure was made or income received.
