Risk Management

The Trustees are aware of the risks to which the charity may conceivably be exposed but are satisfied that under current arrangements this is set at a very low level. Requests for assistance are carefully scrutinised and outcomes are monitored. Safeguards are further promoted by the supervising presence of Sisters of the Good Shepherd in areas of benefit with whom close contact is maintained. A formal risk assessment process and strategies for dealing with identified risk areas is currently being addressed.

SHARING FAIR

Conclusion

The Trustees of Sharing Fair together with the Sisters of the Good Shepherd here at home and indeed in so many parts of our world, wish to thank the members, volunteers, donors, benefactors and friends of Sharing Fair, for your on-going practical interest and sustaining work on behalf of Sharing Fair and its mission. Because of you, over time and to the present day, countless individuals and families in remote villages benefiting from the work of Sharing Fair and the presence of Good Shepherd sisters have been able to expose and export their traditional crafts with pride. Those who have come to our partnership centres have achieved and continue to achieve training, education and crucially the realisation of certain independence and escape from financial and social impoverishment through dignified work and the opportunity to market their creations.
