The Latt House Trust (LHT) Charity is a small charity and was established in order to encourage young students from part of Northern Ireland (Banbridge, Newry, Kilkeel area) to apply for entry to Oxford University or Cambridge University. The LHT encourages students to further their educational experience and thus benefit the broader public good. The LHT believe that furthering the education of local students in Oxford and Cambridge Universities will be to the advantage of not only the local area but also Northern Ireland as a whole.

The LHT receives its money from its single benefactor, Martin Shields, past pupil of Banbridge Academy, and each year the successful Applicants receive a £1,000 Bursary. This Bursary is paid to each student in the first term of the University year. The Trustees of the LHT meet regularly to discuss and award the Bursaries.

Over the past six years a total of 18 local students have benefitted from the LHT Bursaries.

There were five Applications for a LHT Bursary for this academic year. The applicants this year were from Banbridge Academy, Kilkeel High, St. Colman's College and the Sacred Heart Grammar.

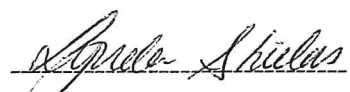

The Bursary of £1,000 is awarded to all five students at the LHT Bursary Presentation Evening.

The Annual Financial Return was approved.

There was no further business.
