Mr Hugh Draffin
Mr William Kemps (resigned 28/4/24)
Mr James Murdoch

Mr Stephen Hughes

Purpose

The charitable purpose of the congregation is the advancement of religion.

Loughbrickland Reformed Presbyterian Church is a congregation of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Ireland. The Reformed Presbyterian Church of Ireland exists to honour and worship God and to share the good news of Jesus Christ His Son.

Structure

Session

The charity trustees of the congregation are the members of the Session, which consists of the minister and ruling elders of the congregation. In case of vacancy (where a congregation has no minister), an acting minister from within the Presbytery (Interim Moderator) is a member of the Session, although without necessarily being a charity trustee.

Elders and ministers are chosen by a vote of all communicant members of the congregation. Election of elders, calling of ministers and transaction of Session business are carried out in accordance with the 'Code', the Book of Government and Order of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Ireland.

Wider Governance

In the Presbyterian form of church government practiced by the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Ireland, each local congregation belongs to a Presbytery. Loughbrickland congregation belongs to the Southern Presbytery of the Reformed Presbyterian Church of Ireland. The membership of each Presbytery consists of the active and retired ministers of the Presbytery, along with a representative elder from each member congregation. The Presbytery is responsible for the spiritual oversight of the congregations within its care and meets a minimum of four times per year.

The highest court of the Reformed Presbyterian Church is its Synod, which consists of the membership of all the Presbyteries of the Church. The Synod meets at least annually to transact the business brought to it by its constituent Presbyteries and Synodical committees.

Deacons

The deacons are responsible for the temporal affairs of the congregation, including matters relating to the finances and property of the church. Deacons are elected by a vote of all communicant members of the congregation and are accountable to Session for their activities.

Volunteers

The congregation relies on the generosity of volunteers in giving their time to assist with a range of activities in the church, including work with children and young people, provision of hospitality, maintenance of the premises and management of the audio ministry.

Activities

Public Worship

Within the period covered by this report, Loughbrickland Reformed Presbyterian Church has provided public worship services for instruction and devotion, held regularly at 11:30AM and 7PM each Sunday, which are open to all. A midweek meeting for Bible teaching and prayer is also held regularly.

The Lord's Supper was observed in 2024 and is open to all who have been baptised and who make a credible profession of saving faith in the Lord Jesus Christ.

There were no Baptisms carried out during the year.

Pastoral Work

The elders of the congregation provided pastoral visitation to elderly, sick and to those unable to attend the public worship through age or ill-health.

Denominational Activity

Representatives of the church Session attended Presbytery meetings regularly and the annual denominational Synod.

Contributions were made to central Synodical funds for general expenses (such as training of ministers and youth work).

Outreach and Mission

Local outreach work in Loughbrickland and its surrounding area was held through door-to-door work.

As noted above, nationwide and overseas mission work was supported financially through contributions to denominational funds (Reformed Presbyterian Missions).

Financial Support

Financial contributions were also made to the mission organisation Come Over and Help, Spanish Translation, The Christian Institute and Trinitarian Bible Society (translation and distribution of the Bible) was also provided.

Youth Work

Instruction of children and young people in meetings of Sunday School and Covenanter Youth group as well as opportunities for informal fellowship. All leaders and volunteers in the youth work have gone through Access NI vetting.

Church Property

While no major work was carried out on the church property in the course of the year, regular cleaning of the meeting house and hall took place, along with upkeep of the church grounds and maintenance as required.

Recordings

The services of worship are recorded and are accessible via the Internet in both audio and video form. These recordings provide access to the pulpit ministry to those who are unable to attend public worship due to ill health or other circumstances. This was particularly helpful during 2024 to those unable to attend in person.

Public Benefit

Loughbrickland Reformed Presbyterian Church meets the public benefit requirement by providing a place for worship (through weekly services of worship and other meetings), by increasing awareness and understanding of religious beliefs (through public preaching from the Holy Scriptures, literature distribution, pastoral counselling and youth work), and by engaging in and supporting missionary and outreach work, both in the Loughbrickland area and overseas.

The work of the church in fulfillment of its purpose does not lead to harm. The only private benefit is for Ministers and others who may receive benefit as a result of their employment. Such benefit is incidental to the work and purpose of the congregation.

The Charity Trustees have given careful consideration to the Charity Commission for Northern Ireland's guidance on public benefit to ensure that the activities entered into during the year have helped to achieve the Charity's objectives and activities, as well as providing public benefit.

Financial Situation

The congregation's main source of income is members' contributions through the weekly Freewill Offering. Total Freewill Offering receipts in the year were £85,051 (2023: £85,782).

Unrestricted reserves at the year-end were £162,523 (2023: £157,774).

Statement of Trustees Responsibilities

The Trustees are responsible for preparing the annual report and the financial statements of the congregation in accordance with applicable law and generally accepted accounting practice.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that are sufficient to show and explain the congregation's transactions and disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time its financial position. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the congregation and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

As the congregation's income does not exceed £250,000, the Trustees have elected under Section 64(3) of the Charities Act (Northern Ireland) 2008 to prepare a receipts and payments account and a statement of assets and liabilities.

The Church constitution is a historical document and had contained a clause that the annual accounts should be audited. A motion was passed at the June 2019 Synod that the wording of this clause would be changed at the June 2020 Synod which did not take place due to the ongoing Covid-19 pandemic. The change was approved at the Synod of June 2021 to state that the accounts should be 'independently examined by a competent person'.

This report was approved by Session at its meeting on 19 October 2025.
