Men's Alliance (N.I.) (Registered number: NI671771)

Report of the Trustees
For the year Ended 31 March 2025

The trustees who are also directors of the charity for the purposes of the Companies Act 2006, present their report with the financial statements of the charity for the year ended 31 March 2025. The trustees have adopted the provisions of Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102) (effective January 2019).

Public benefits:

The direct benefits flowing from the purpose of Men's Alliance is to promote the advancement of mental health in the population of men who have experienced, or are experiencing, domestic abuse.

We believe the impact domestic abuse has on individuals is a public health issue. We minimise suffering and promote the mental and physical health of any adult male who asks for support. We use active listening support and give practical advice which research shows is very important to men in crisis, and we also refer to our own counselling service.

Our online, Facebook, private peer support group network demonstrates the power of sharing experiences with others who understand what you have gone through and provides connection and a place of solidarity. This benefit is clearly shown by the number of men who join and remain in the group and by the many men who frequently engage in it.

The benefits from our purpose are demonstrated by the recording of statistics and figures that will show how much support has been provided to men who otherwise may have used statutory services or not sought help due to a perceived lack of services.

The benefits of counselling are measured using a well-being scale taken before and after the work is carried out. This gives a clear indication of the male's level of improvement and provides vital data to identify strengths and weaknesses in the service so that these can be worked on and improved.

The benefit of our MANi peer support is clearly shown by the number of men who join and remain in the group and by the many men who frequently engage in both offering and looking for support.

There is no harm arising from any of the purposes of the charity directly or indirectly. The beneficiaries of the Charity are male victims of domestic abuse commonly suffering from mental health issues who require help and support. With the exception of training for counsellors, which is incidental and necessary, there is no private benefit flowing from any of the purposes.

What your organisation does:

The Men's Alliance provides regular in person support groups for Male Victims and Survivors of Domestic Abuse helping them to understand their situation and improve social skills as they re-integrate into society. These groups include walking and gym sessions to bring the men together, extend to Zoom calls when in person meetings are not possible.

We also raise awareness of Male Domestic Abuse through use of social media accounts and other advertising medium working towards an equal understanding for male victims as there is for female. These awareness sessions also extend to presentations to Male Health Groups, Clubs, Associations and Corporate Contacts where staff training is also undertaken.

The Organisation provides counselling services for male victims and survivors of domestic abuse helping them on their road to recovery, and support services as they come to terms with and recover from their abuse. These support services include the MANi network of user led peer support groups on Facebook, supported by Counsellors, Professionals, and peers.

Report of the Trustees

Also provided is a telephone listening service for help and support, and a MENtor project where peers are trained to provide Mentorship to men in need.

The Men's Alliance also provide support to men in crisis in relation to housing and legal advice, guiding them to services that are available and advocating for them where necessary, and supporting them through a system where all too often they have little knowledge and no experience of how to make an approach and get the best help available.

The Men's Alliance are working towards a long-term project to provide residential therapeutic support for male victims of domestic abuse where currently none exists in Northern Ireland. Currently we advocate for Crisis Care for men with Government Departments, stressing the need to provide them with both housing and complete wrap around care which will help them to recover from their abuse.

Men's Alliance (NI) Chairperson Report: For 2024-25

Dear All

I would like to present the Chairpersons Report, giving an insight into the service and support we have provided to men facing domestic abuse, false allegations and forced separation (Alienation) from their children.

Service Impact Numbers:

Social Media engagement is key to Men's Alliance activities and raising awareness of the issues the men that trust us to support and advise them face. In the year 2024 to 2025 there have been in excess of 3,000,000 views of our Social media accounts, with 200,000 engagements, comments, likes and shares. The support continues to build with in excess of 30,000 followers across all our Social Media Platforms and areas.

The MANi Support Group network also continues to grow across all areas of the UK and Ireland, with a total of 4550 members (4264 men and 286 women). In Northern Ireland with 1605 members alone there are around 450 men per day engaging with the group, these are the men and women that Men's Alliance is here to support, as they or their loved ones travel through their journey of abuse and recovery, we help smooth the trip with solid advice and 24hr support based on our own lived experiences.

Support has also been extended on a 1-2-1 basis to 330 individuals who have contacted us through messenger, email or online form. This is both men and women, with the later searching for advice on how to help their brothers, new partners, dads and relatives. This support is normally provided by telephone on the same day as the request is received, giving advice, a listening ear and where appropriate direction to other resources available. This same day response is important to us, as one of our core beliefs is that when a man reaches out for help he has most likely considered it for quite some time, and he needs it NOW, not at the end of a waiting list.

Support:

In the real world we have started working with another charity, on their wooded land in Annalong in the Mourne Mountains. This benefits then through helping them maintain the site, and helps the men we support in getting into the fresh air, and making connections with other men in the same situations. We have seen up to 20 men attend these fortnightly events, to take on a project of their own, work with others in a team, just sit in the outdoors – or enjoy a BBQ when the weather co-operates!

These support avenues have allowed us to engage with men as they progress from having depression, anxiety, suicidal thoughts, low self-esteem, minimal child contact and as they grow in confidence after abuse, to outgoing confident individuals with shared custody or extensive contact with their children. Many of these men remain in our support groups, and offer advice and help to others who have only just commenced their journey. MANi is a huge community of men, offering peer support without judgement.

Importantly the help we offer is at a time when it is needed most, when it is asked for. The feedback from the groups is always positive about the community that is there and help offered, we change men's minds as victims of abuse from "I am alone, no one believes me" to "I am believed and supported."

Awareness:

The highlight of the year was our Women's March For Men in November, in the leadup to International Mens Day. This was a world first march, with women who are supporting men in their lives through abuse, women who have lost men to suicide due to domestic abuse, and women who have lost men to domestic homicides all joining to march through the middle of Belfast City Centre. The response from the public, and media interest raised was invaluable, again helping us to raise awareness of the issues faced by men who have experienced domestic abuse.

Challenges:

Challenges remain with all our volunteers, many of whom have full-time jobs also, but commit what they can to helping others and supporting them in their specialist areas, be it legal, social services, benefits or general advice. They do it solely because they have been there too.

We continue to face struggles in how we are perceived as an organisation, we work hard within our Support groups and successfully ensure all group rules are followed, with a zero-tolerance stance taken on any breaches especially around misogyny.

Unfortunately, over the years many Men's Organisations, and individuals, have done a lot of damage to how men's groups are perceived, and this is now used by others across the sector to damage efforts made to provide support to men, because we raise awareness for the issues men are facing. We now feel it necessary to state this in all meetings we attend, we are not misogynistic as accused by some. Many Women's Organisations, Men's Organisations and those that provide support to both Women and Men happily work with us, they are the ones that show the real spirit of co-operation, and focus on what we are all about – the victims we support.

Thanks to Volunteers and supporters:

The support we offer to men who are quite possibly at the worst time of their lives would not be possible without the amazing team of volunteers that support us, I would like to take this opportunity to thank every one of them for their commitment to Men's Alliance, we could not do it without them.

To all our online supporters and followers we have to extend thanks for encouraging us in carrying on with our advocacy and support, you motivate us every day.

As every year I am proud to be associated with the men of The Men's Alliance and the MANi Support Groups, and the amazing and positive impact on the men we support. We hear time and again the stories of men who have made it through their abuse to a happier life and even where children are involved regained contact, it is a privilege to be part of their journey.
